Steviva™ Quality You Can Taste

Fructevia™ is a blend of Fructose, FOS, Stevia and Magnesium Carbonate.

► What is FOS?

FOS, or fructooligosaccharides, is a soluble fiber found in certain fruits and vegetables. It provides digestive benefits such as calcium absorption and support of friendly flora in the intestinal track.

► What is Stevia?

Stevia is derived from the Stevia Rebaudiana plant and is 200-300 times sweeter than sugar. It is an excellent calorie-free source of sweetness that does not raise blood sugar levels.

► What is Magnesium Carbonate?

Magnesium Carbonate is a mineral from ancient sea deposits. While we use it as an anti-caking agent so that Fructevia does not stick together, it is also very beneficial for the normal functioning of cell, nerves, muscles, bones, and heart. It helps with calcium absorption and PH balance.

► Why does Fructevia contain Fructose?

Fructevia™ has been scientifically designed with a detailed knowledge of nutritional biochemistry and metabolism to provide the best possible nutrition for attaining specific human goals. The nutritional specifications are rationally planned for your benefit, using information at the molecular level about how the human body uses nutrients to accomplish tasks. If you have a sweet tooth, you'll appreciate that Fructevia™ contains fructose, a natural fruit sugar that burns slowly in the body to provide long-lasting energy, unlike ordinary table sugar. This makes fructose very low on the glycemic index.
